

Fall For The Great Outdoors

Weekends are easy in these stroll-worthy kicks BY LIANE BONIN

Mix It Up

Nautical style gets a mixed-media twist from Eastland. Using contrasting leathers and breathable fabric, Solstice is smart enough for any outing his weekend has to offer. Retail for $65.

Sea Cruiser

The classic boat shoe gets a modern update from French Shiner. Marlin features French Tech comfort and a Dri-Lex lining, ensuring his feet will stay warm and dry, whether he's on land or at sea. Retail for $60.

Buzz, Buzz, Buzz

For fall '09, Moszkito launches its first assortment of closed footwear as part of its popular Arcy Footwear Collection. With interchangeable footbeds in three arch heights, the men's and women's nautical-inspired Boat and slip-on Nest are a perfect his-and-hers fit. Retail range is $110 to $120.

Jane Says

MBT shows off its new, streamlined look with Tunisha, a Mary Jane designed to exercise the body's supporting muscle system while looking great doing it. The dual-board sole, introduced for the brand's spring '09 collection, is more compact than previous incarnations, but delivers the same great results. Retail for $250.

Sole Man

He'll feel fine in these supportive, sneaker-inspired shoes by Deer Stags. Featuring the brand's patented S.U.P.R.O. Sock technology and a slip-resistant sole, this style is a must-have for any man-about-town. Retail for $60.

Spring In Your Step

The Z-Trek 2 by Z-Coil doesn't look like your average hiking boot—and it doesn't feel like one, either. The brand's unique steel coil in the heel absorbs 50 percent of the impact from walking or running, and a rocker sole reduces shock. Plus, the spring suspension system works with a built-in orthotic to distribute pressure evenly. We call that a step in the right direction. ■
